THE CITIZEN.

SATURDAY, - - December 13, 1873.

LOCAL MATTERS.

LEVIN'S brewery is constantly supplied with fresh brewer's yeast.

A. DEGUERRE's large mule train of eight wagons arrived from Grant on Wednesday and moved on towards Florence.

THE new proprietors of San Pedro station advertise in THE CITIZEN their facilities for accommodating travelers, drovers and freighters. The station has always been admirably kept and will continue that way. All others there know this to be true but strangers may not—hence this fact is a bit of proper news to send abroad.

MONDAY of this week, J. M. Myers, R. P. Nash and another man, with three wagons, arrived from San Bernardino on their way to San Antonio, Texas. They expected to go ahead yesterday. They brought a few hundred pounds of nice apples with them which, retailed here at seventy-five cents per pound. Mr. Nash is a printer and has worked on The Guardian at San Bernardino.

FARMERS in want of land to cultivate with certain and abundant water for irrigation, would do well to read the advertisement of W. B. HELLINGS & Co. in THE CITIZEN and also communicate with that firm at East Phoenix. The terms offered are such that pretty definite calculations can be made in advance of what the outcome will be.

Mines and mining are receiving more attention by the people of Tucson than many of our own citizens understand. Among those now engaged in spending much time and labor and of course considerable cash we can name these: Sam'l Hughes, H. S. Stevens, Tully, Ochoa & Co., A. Lazard, C. O. Brown, E. M. Pearce, Gov. Safford, Dr. Handy, J. W. Hopkins, R. N. Leatherwood, Solomon Warner, T. M. Yerkes.

EARLY this week Samuel Hughes, H. S. Stevens and E. A. Bennett went out to the Montezuma mining district to look after mining claims and laborers at work upon them. There are some very rich ones in that district. S. H. DeLong has just shown us an assay certificate of some ore from the Margarita lode which shows per ton of 200 pounds, silver $670 75, gold $12 50 and twenty-one per cent. of copper. The ore was sent to California by Mr. Tully to be assayed for copper, and surprised all interested by the results as here given. The Montezuma district covers what is known as the Sierrita and other mountains about thirty-five miles southwest of Tucson.

DEPUTY-SURVEYOR Theo. F. White and party returned to Tucson on the 7th instant. They left early in October, and in addition to running necessary standard and township lines, they subdivided six townships, viz: 13 S, 14 and 15 E, near Tucson, and 15, 16, 17 S and 20 E, and 17 S, 19 E—the latter four covering the San Pedro settlements, including the upper or overland crossing. After surveying a mining claim, or probably more, which will require several days, he will proceed to the vicinity of Kenyon Station, carry a line to the Colorado at Yuma, and survey considerable land thereabouts into townships and subdivisions. Mr. White is a most thorough and careful surveyor.

REASONABLE creatures will not complain at the management of the weather this week, although much rain fell on Wednesday night and frost and very thin ice appeared several mornings. Yesterday was a magnificent specimen of Indian Summer. When people in the northern latitudes read our weather items, then they get up a notion to move to Arizona—therefore we make them. People often wonder why a local paper tells about the weather each week. Of course all such understand just how to make a newspaper! When we run a paper in snow banks four to six months of the year, we did not attach much value to a weather item, for we then regarded it not a good one for our several hundred readers in the old States.

This is the coldest morning of the season. Mud is stiffened with frost, but the sun is shining brightly.

PERSONAL.—Hon. Coles Bashford, Secretary of Arizona, got back to his old quarters in Tucson last Monday. He has been absent since May last. In the meantime, he has superintended the printing of the session laws and journals of the seventh legislature of Arizona, closed up his business in Wisconsin and brought his family to San Diego, with a view to make his and their permanent home west of the Rocky Mountains—quite likely in Arizona. The more thoroughly one knows Governor Bashford, the better he can esteem him.

Dr. C. H. Lord and F. L. Austin left here on Thursday for a hurried business trip to Camp Apache. When the Doctor is away, the most genial and accommodating spoke in the social wheel is wanting. Up hill and down, or on the level, he is far above the average of men, and as our acquaintance increases so does our regard for him.

Gov. Safford and Deputy Surveyor Theo. F. White left yesterday morning to survey the Trench mine situated in the Patagonia mountains. They may be expected back on Monday.

Thomas Ewing, of Ewing & Curtiss, got back to Tucson last Saturday evening. He is one of the most popular and energetic of men and deservedly so.

Col. A. W. Evans, inspector general of this Department, left here for Prescott last Sunday. He is an officer that one can easily and truly speak well of.

James E. McCaffry, whose legal business calls him often to all parts of the Territory, got back from Yuma by stage of Tuesday.

W. H. Fisher, of San Bernardino, has been in town this week. He contemplates sheep raising in Arizona.

Messrs. Hewitt & Bartlett, widely known throughout Arizona, got back from the States by stage on Monday. We have just space to say Maj. W. H. Brown and E. N. Fish left this morning for Camp Grant.

A. G. Scott puts the public on guard by an advertisement this week.

Telegraphic Ball Saturday Night.

This affair was well attended and as well enjoyed. The evening was fine and the spirits of all present seemed finer. The dance opened about half past eight and continued to near twelve when a fine supper was partaken of at Neugass's restaurant. After eating and some drinking of coffee, champagne and other joy inspiring fluids, some remarks were made. Gov. Safford gave a concise and interesting history of the rise and progress of telegraphing, and commented on the mysterious wonder which it surely is to the mass of people even to this day. He paid proper tribute to Gen. Crook, and those under him in its construction, and especially to Capt. G. F. Price whose absence was regretted by all present, for to his energy and business tact, the people of Arizona are much indebted for the entire completion of the line as contemplated with the small appropriation made by Congress; and the Governor very fittingly referred to Delegate McCormick's prompt action in securing the appropriation for the work. It is true that others high in authority recommended it, but for the opportunity of Delegate McCormick and answered by his excellent arguments in committee of the whole house of representatives in Congress, there would have been no appropriation made. This is a little history in this connection which the people of Arizona should properly remember. After the Governor's remarks, the proprietor of THE CITIZEN informed those present of the contents of a news dispatch just received from San Diego, which set forth that the administration of President Grant had wisely averted war with Spain upon honorable terms which were briefly stated; the President's views on the postal telegraph and postal savings banks, were also given as contained in the dispatch fresh from Washington. Such late news was never before enjoyed at a supper in Tucson. Gen. E. A. Carr of Camp Lowell was called out and he responded in some remarks complimentary to the citizens in general.

So far as we can learn, all present still feel that it was good to have been there, and rejoice that a large step towards removing our feeling of isolation from the lives of population and thronged business centers of our country had just been taken. We may here remark that while so many men are ever finding fault with government and its expenditures, pretty much all gracefully submit when benefited. With some errors in Arizona affairs, the administration and Congress have dealt quite liberally with Arizona, and mainly because Arizona has been ably represented in Washington by Hon. R. C. McCormick.

Tucson Literary Society.

[Reported by the Secretary.]

After calling the meeting to order last Sunday evening, the proceedings of last meeting were read and approved. S. H. Draehman was appointed critic for the evening. Carlos Tully filed his report as critic of last meeting. L. M. Jacobs recited "Coriolanus;" S. H. Draehman delivered an oration on the Centennial Celebration; L. C. Hughes delivered a criticism on the art of criticizing the evening's proceedings; Charles Poppe lectured on courage.

H. S. Stevens reported that the rooms for the use of the society were ready, whereupon the committee was discharged. S. H. Draehman offered a resolution to amend the by-laws.

The following gentlemen were then appointed: For recitation, J. S. Voelker; oration, A. Steinmetz; criticism, Lewis C. Hughes; essay, R. M. Jacobs. Applications for membership were received from Messrs. A. Caballero, L. Rosenbaum, A. Levin, Manuel Vasquez and John Spring. The following gentlemen were admitted as members: Messrs. L. Wolf, Joseph Holt, Charles T. Stebbins and W. C. Davis. D. A. Bennett sent in his resignation which was accepted. The subject for the next evening's debate was then chosen to be: The recognition of Cuba as an independent nation. L. Goldberg was elected as member of the Business Committee vice Bennett resigned. The evening's debate was then taken up by Messrs. L. M. Jacobs and Wm. Zeckendorf, after which the meeting adjourned.

SANTIAGO REMONDO who was mentioned in THE CITIZEN of November 29, as coming here from Sonora in pursuit of horses stolen by the Apaches returned to Tucson from Cachile's reservation on Wednesday. He succeeded in getting four of the thirteen horses stolen. He says that on his way out, he found a party of Apaches at Sulphur springs who had two of his horses and afterwards he got possession of one of them. He saw, while at the reservation, several horses and mules that had been stolen at different times from Sonora. He says that Capt. Jeffords told him that some of the Apaches on the reserve were from the White mountains and some from Tularosa, and that the stock stolen from him was scattered among the several bands, and says he was treated kindly by the agent.

ZECKENDORF Bros. store is continually crowded with customers who take advantage of the great reduction in the price of their goods. Louis Zeckendorf has bought, during the crisis in New York $50,000 worth of goods at fifty cents on the dollar. This enables the firm to sell twenty-five per cent lower than any other merchant and still make a profit. Go, see and try them.

GEN. CARR, commanding Camp Lowell, yesterday sent us the following: Hereafter I propose to have the regimental band practice (except Wednesdays and Saturdays) at 3 p. m., to enable our friends from town to return home before dark.

It is understood that a tiptoe dance will come off at Congress Hall about New Year's. This announcement is deemed proper so that all hands may have time to put their cuffkin clothes in presentable shape.

GILBERT tells, by advertisement to-day, the people what he is prepared to do for them in the eating line. Step into his establishment on Mesilla street and test his edibles.

APPEL's and Barrota's trains left here yesterday with barley for Camp Grant. Another of Appel's trains and Backlund's are due here in a few days en route to same place with barley.

THE Tucson literary society has secured comfortable rooms in H. S. Stevens' building corner of Main and Pennington streets.
